Imitating Salt Lake.

Winnipeg, Man., 29.—During a fire in the warehouse of J. H. Ashdown this evening, a number of kegs of powder exploded, tearing the building to splinters, injuring twenty persons, more or less, and smashing the windows of 100 principal stores to atoms. The concussion shook the entire city as if by an earthquake. The injured persons include Chief McBride, of the fire brigade; George Seal, insurance clerk (since died); fire alarm superintendent James Yuille; William McBride, the chief's son; Archie Grant, manager for Ashdown; William Cade, assistant chief of fire brigade, and a number of other firemen. It is thought several of them will die. All the doctors in the city are busy taking care of the wounded. The streets are thronged with people. The loss on stock in the warehouse will be heavy.

London Puffs.

London, 29.—The Press Association says there is reason to believe that the Marquis of Lansdown, chairman of the joint committee of the House of Lords and the House of Commons on the channel project, will report favorably upon the scheme, and that there will also be a minority report adverse to the project.
Mr. Ince, liberal, has been elected a member of Parliament for Hastings, in place of Charles J. Murray.

Chinese Treachery.

London, 29.—The Post says that the latest news received at the foreign office in regard to the Tong tin difficulty, is that China resolved to prepare for the eventuality of war, while carrying on negotiations with France to gain time.
Paris, 29.—The Temps publishes a qualified denial of the statement that negotiations between France and China have been broken off but admits that negotiations so far, have been difficult and unfavorable.

Agitated Spaniards.

Madrid, 29.—Great alarm prevails in Spain over the outbreak of cholera in Egypt. The sanitary council has advised that the maximum period of quarantine be imposed upon all vessels arriving at Spanish ports from Egypt. The council also requested the ministry to urge the British government to comply with the advice of the Constantinople sanitary conference.

General Crook.

Denver, 29.—Republican's Albuquerque: General Crook arrived here this morning. He proceeds to Washington direct, accompanied by Captain John Burke, of his staff. The bucks had not returned to San Carlos reservation when he left Prescott. Crook is positive they will bring little Charlie McComas if alive.

Italy has agreed to the abolition of the capitulation at Tunis.

It is semi-officially stated that President Arthur will arrive at Newport about the 4th of July, remaining two weeks, a portion of which time will be spent at West Island. The President will be entertained by many summer residents.

Thurlof Weed's First Shilling.

My father was a hard-working man with a kind heart, and an earnest desire to do the best he could for his children. He was with a strictly honest man. But he was doomed to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow, in its most literal sense. He was bred a farmer, but in 1799 removed from Ohio to Catskill, and became a carman. But everything went wrong with him. Constant and hard labor failed to better his condition. If at times he succeeded in getting a little ahead, those for whom he worked would fail to pay him, or his horse would get lame, or fall sick, or back off the docks into the river. The consequence was that we were always poor, sometimes very poor. This, however, was the misfortune rather than the fault of my parents; for they were always struggling to promote the welfare of their children. They were very anxious that I should enjoy the advantages of education. I cannot ascertain how much schooling I got at Catskill, probably less than a year, certainly not a year and a half, and this when I was not more than five or six years old. I felt the necessity, at an early age, of trying to do something for my own support.

My first employment, when about eight years old, was in blowing a blacksmith's bellows for a Mr. Reeves, who gave me six cents per day, which contributed so much towards the support of the family. I stood upon a box to enable me to reach the handle of the bellows. My next service was in the capacity of boy of all work, at a tavern in the village of Jefferson, two miles from Catskill, kept by a Captain Baker, who had, I remember, made a great mistake in exchanging the command of a ship for a tavern. After the sheriff took possession of Captain Baker's wrecked hotel, I got a situation as cabin boy on board the sloop Ranger, Captain Grant. This gratified a desire I had to see the city of New York. I was then (1806) in my ninth year. I remember, as if it were but yesterday, after carrying the small bar trunk of a passenger from Oenotus Slip to Broad Street, finding myself in possession of the first shilling I could call my own. I remember, too, how joyfully I purchased with that shilling three two-penny cakes and three oranges for my brother and sister, how carefully I watched them on the passage back, and how much happiness they conferred.—Autobiography of Thurlof Weed.

GRAND GAS

Balloon Ascension!

—BY—

PROF. P. A. VAN TASSELL,
In his Mammoth Air Ship "CITY OF SALT LAKE," JULY 4th, on from

WASHINGTON SQUARE

On this occasion the Professor will be accompanied by Mr. H. Stone and Party, representing the Press.

This New Mammoth Gas Ballon was constructed by Professor P. A. Martin, of San Francisco, and is capable of carrying two-thirds of a ton. By all means witness the thrilling and exciting sensation as the Professor and his Passengers take their places in the frail basket. The perilous start and the noble and sublime scene of the great ascent among the clouds. A balloon ascension invariably leaves a strong, lasting and vivid impression on the mind and memory. It attracts all classes, old and young—all tastes and interests, for a balloon ascension is at all times a novel and sublime sight, exhibiting, as it does, man's dominion over the very air he breathes. As a spectacle it fixes the attention of every beholder; as an achievement of science it is one of the greatest and grandest ever witnessed.

On the same day there will also be

BASE BALL

A return Match game between the OLYMPICS of Salt Lake and the ATHLETICS of Ogden, for the Territorial Championship. BYCYCLE RACES for Gold and Silver Medal, and a number of FOOT RACES. Balloon ascent immediately after Base Ball Game.
